Worship Notes

Mid-Week or Evening Service: In lieu of a regular Sunday worship service, churches may want to hold a mid-week or weekend evening service. See #14 in “Cites and Additional Information” below for a worship outline with corresponding music and resources.

Rather than letting the distance widen between us and God, an illness is exactly the time for a deeper pursuit of God. In our traditional weekly worship services, cancer patients may glean spiritual messages that are relevant to their particular situation, but a worship service can be designed to acknowledge and lay bare the pain and suffering caused by cancer, as well as provide a concentration of the positive and supportive messages found in Scripture that are relevant to the challenge of coping with cancer and cancer treatment.

Lament

One method for deepening our pursuit of God is the biblical practice of lament. Lament allows our sorrows and suffering to surface in free and courageous expression to God. Lament is not about psychology, nor about getting things off our chest. Lament is the groan of the Holy Spirit within us: our cries and tears, our longing for God's healing of our inner and outer wounds, and the mercy of God's salvation. It is about true worship—offering up as a sacrifice our pain to God. Lament is finding the language of the deepest contents of our hearts and pouring out our hopes and hurts before the Great Healer. Sometimes, in our worship-setting, this “pouring out” is to the pulpit, with the congregation merely responding to what they are hearing. When others are suffering, it takes courage and faith to move from empathy and sympathy to actually groaning with fellow believers. We are afraid of other people's pain. Like Job's friends, we're afraid when we don't have answers. Well, Job doesn't get any answers for his sufferings—but he does get GOD!

When we enter into others' pain, it can bring us into a shared sense of God's unfailing love and presence. Such worship lets us drop our masks and bathe in God's compassion. While our songs, prayers, liturgies, sermons, visuals, and testimonies can leave room to admit our fears of cancer and to weep with those who weep, lament also leads to praise as our connection to God is strengthened, leading us to trust, assurance, and hope in God, and the promises of God. Such worship can be a strong source for comfort with positive messages. It can also help us surrender fear, gain hope, and peace, and see the importance of a caring community.

1. Invocation or Litany

(a) Invocation

Heal me O LORD, and I shall be healed; Save me, and I shall be saved, for you are my praise. Jeremiah 17:14

In the midst of our journey with cancer's trials and tribulations, O God creator and deliverer, we rest and abide in the peace of your holy word. We know the promises in your Word are true. Although our bodies are racked with pain and our minds are filled with fear and doubt, today we surrender our brokenness to rest our minds and hearts completely in you. Give us and our families, friends and caregivers the peace that passes all understanding. We plead for your loving comfort so that when the next bout of pain surges through our bodies you are our only praise. Help us to find perfect peace so that we can keep our minds stayed on you. Help us in this time of great suffering, and we will give you all the glory. Keep us in this time of doubt and pain, because we look to you for healing. In this time of unbelief, our faith will look up to you alone. Guide us as we walk this path of suffering and comfort us with your healing power. We know that you shared in our suffering as our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. Now, as High Priest at God's throne, you hear our sincere cries. We adore you, Great Jehovah. We are blessed to be in your presence today. We come boldly before your throne of grace. We trust you in our time of need. We acknowledge your sovereignty over our lives. We are grateful for another chance to honor and worship you.

- (b) Readings of Hope and Comfort – from Isaiah 41; Psalm 33, and Romans 5:15
Do not be afraid for I am with you; stop being anxious and watchful, for I am your God.
I give you strength, I bring you help, I uphold you with my victorious right hand.

The eye of Yahweh is on those who fear him, on those who rely on his love to rescue their souls from death and keep them alive in famine.

It is by faith and through Jesus that we have entered into this state of grace in which we can boast of looking forward to God's glory.

But that is not all we can boast about; we can boast about our sufferings. These sufferings bring patience, as we know, and patience brings perseverance, and perseverance brings hope, and this hope is not deceptive, because the love of God has been poured into our hearts by the Holy Spirit which has been given us.

May the God of hope bring you such joy and peace in your faith that the power of the Holy Spirit will remove all bounds to hope.

Spoken

Laying-on of Hands and Prayer

Invite cancer patients, survivors, and their families to come forward and kneel and receive prayer. The congregation should be invited to also come forward and stand behind those kneeling, putting their hands on the person's shoulders. Other congregants may wish to kneel at their seats for prayer. Clergy may wish to anoint those for whom the congregation is praying. Below are various prayers. Any of these may be used or you can design a prayer for your church.

- (d) Prayer of Lament (Lamentations 3:17-26)

I have been deprived of peace; I have forgotten what prosperity is.
So I say, "My splendor is gone and all that I had hoped from the LORD."
I remember my affliction and my wandering, the bitterness and the gall.
I well remember them, and my soul is downcast within me.

Yet this I call to mind and therefore I have hope:

Because of the LORD's great love we are not consumed, for his compassions never fail.

They are new every morning; great is your faithfulness.

I say to myself, "The LORD is my portion; therefore I will wait for him."

The LORD is good to those whose hope is in him, to the one who seeks him;
it is good to wait quietly for the salvation of the LORD.

- (e) Prayer – Thy Name is My Healing (Baha'I tradition)

Thy name is my healing, Oh my God,
And remembrance of Thee is my remedy.
Nearness to Thee is my hope and love
For Thou art my companion.
Thy mercy to me is my healing
And my succor in both this world

And the world to come.
Thou, verily, are the All-Bountiful,
The All-Knowing, the All-Wise.

(f) Prayer for Healing (Jewish tradition)

O merciful Parent, I turn to You in prayer.
You who bind up wounds and heal the sick, I put my trust in You.
Knowing that I am in Your hands, O God, I have faith that
You will not forsake me.
Give me courage now and in the days ahead.
Grant wisdom and skill to my physician; make all those who are assisting me instruments of Your healing power.
Give me strength for this day and grant me hope for tomorrow.
Hear my prayer, be with me; protect me.
Restore me to health, Adonai, so that I may serve You.
Heal me Adonai, and I shall be healed; Save me and I shall be saved;
for You are my praise.

(g) Prayer of Peace – Prayer to God Our Constant Companion (Turkuram (17th cent.))

Wherever I go,
you are my constant companion,
holding my hand and leading me on.
You are the sole support
along the path that I tread,
carrying my burden by my side.

If I stray along the way,
you set me right again.
You have overcome my resistance,
O God, and you nudged me onward.

All things and all people
have become my beloved brothers.
Now your joy pervades and encircles me;
I am like a child at play
during a celebration.

(h) Prayer for Medical Staff (Jewish tradition)

Thank you God, for the care and concern of the many about me who have dedicated themselves to health and healing.
It is they who have had to respond to my calls for help;
they, who will be with me throughout the difficult times ahead.
Grant wisdom, patience and understanding to them.
Bless the work of their hands and their hearts that their labor may not be in vain. As your helpers, may they find the way to restore me and others to life renewed. May I and they feel the comfort of your presence. Amen.

10. Sermonic Selection

(b) Oh, It Is Jesus. By Andraè Crouch

(c) My Peace I Leave With You. By Wendell Woods. For SATB

(d) Spoken/Prayer

A Week Where Transformation Will Meet You

And now, my friends go forth
to a week where transformation will meet you and guide you.
Do not hide when they recognize you.

Do not doubt when you see Christ.
Do not deny when you are confronted.
Do not stop until you are at the cross and there you will see the light
and the burdens of your heart will roll away.

Until then God be with you! Amen.

13. Audio-Visual Resources

At Prayer time, project a slide titled "Let Us Pray..." In the first column, list what persons are praying for; in the second column, list the cancer patients (including survivors), and those who provide support to cancer patients and survivors, including family members, neighbors, friends, co-workers, etc.

Heading

Let Us Pray...

Column left

- for healing – cancer, we dare ask for a miracle;
- for perseverance - continuing to live fully for the Lord, even in sickness;
- for character – for being an example and encouragement to others, to lead others to trust in the Lord; and,
- for hope – for today, tomorrow and forever.

Column right

Who we are praying for...

- names of those living with cancer;
- family members of those living with cancer;
- those who provide medical and other support to patients;
- those currently in medical treatment; and,
- cancer survivors.

Faith and Health Connection Card

We have a choice to turn to God or to cope in unhealthy ways.

Study the Bible to see how God guides us in coping with all situations

Read faith-related material to assist you in growing deeper in your faith.

Recognize that God puts people and circumstances into your life to help you grow, and become wiser, and more helpful to others.

Pray for strength, peace, healing and wisdom in making decisions

Believe that God hears and will answer your prayers.

Ask friends for prayer and support.

Learn all that you can about cancer. Call upon ALL agencies intended to assist you including:

Here list the names and phone numbers of the three main cancer agencies/hospitals in your community. Remember that many do not have healthcare.
