

A photograph showing a group of rescue workers in dark uniforms and yellow hard hats working in a field of rubble. They are gathered around a person lying on a stretcher, appearing to be providing medical aid. The scene is dimly lit, suggesting an indoor or nighttime setting.

"Nanpwen lapriyeki pa gen "Amen."

There is no prayer
which does not have an "Amen".

---Haitian proverb

"Men anpil, chay pa lou."

Many hands make a workload lighter.

---Haitian proverb

Arriving and leaving, hoping and remembering, that's what life consists of.

---Haitian proverb

“Lespwa fè viv.”
Hope makes one live.
